

LA FOLLETTE IS GREETED WITH CHEERS ON VOTE

Chamber Rings With Applause When Hard Fight is Ended and Final Count Shows the Measure is Approved.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—The democratic tariff revision bill passed the senate at 5:43 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, amid a burst of applause that swept down from crowded galleries and found its echo on the crowded floor of the senate. Its passage was attended with surprises in the final moments of the voting, when Sen. La Follette, republican, cast his vote with the democrats, and was joined a few moments later by Sen. Poindexter, progressive.

The democrats had counted throughout the long tariff fight upon losing the votes of Senators Ransdell and Thornton of Louisiana, democrats, who voted against the bill today because it would put sugar on the free list. Until the names of Senators La Follette and Poindexter were actually called, however, no one knew definitely the stand they would take and their votes were greeted with enthusiastic applause.

Pres. Wilson Tuesday night expressed great gratification over the end of the long struggle in the senate. Sen. Simmons, chairman of the finance committee, who had piloted the bill through the finance committee, the democratic caucus and the senate, predicted that its passage would bring immediate stimulus to the business of the country.

Less Than First Bill.
As it passed the senate, the tariff bill represents an average reduction of more than four per cent from the rates of the original bill that passed the house, and nearly 28 per cent from the rates of existing law. In many important particulars the senate has changed the bill that passed the house, and a conference committee of the two houses will begin work Wednesday or Thursday, to adjust these differences. Leaders of both houses predicted that the conference will consume less than two weeks time.

The senate endeavored Tuesday to hasten the bill on its progress to the white house by naming its members of the conference committee as soon as the bill passed. Vice Pres. Marshall appointed Senators Simmons, Stone, Williams and Johnson, democrats and Senators Penrose, Lodge and La Follette, republicans, as the senate conferees. Sen. Stone withdrew from the committee and Sen. Shively was appointed in his place. The house conferees, it was reported Tuesday night, will be Representatives Underwood, Kitchin and Rainey, democrats, and Payne and Fordney, republicans. Each house will have an equal vote in the conference committee, even though each does not name the same number of conferees.

How They Voted.
Yeas—Ashurst, Bacon, Chamberlain, Chilton, Clarke of Arkansas, Fletcher, Gore, Hitchcock, Hollis, Hughes, James, Johnson, Kern, Lane, Lewis, Martin, Martine, Myers, Newlands, O'Gorman, Overman, Owen, Pittman, Pomerene, Robinson, Saulsbury, Sheppard, Shields, Shively, Simmons, Smith of Arizona, Smith of Georgia, Smith of Maryland, Smith of South Carolina, Stone, Swanson, Thompson, Tillman, Vandaman, Walsh, Williams, democrats; La Follette, republican, and Poindexter, progressive. Total—44.

Nays—Borah, Bradley, Brady, Brandegee, Bristow, Catron, Clapp, Clark of Wyoming, Colt, Cummins, Dillingham, Fall, Gallinger, Jackson, Jones, Kenyon, Lippitt, Lodge, McCumber, McLean, Nelson, Norris, Oliver, Page, Penrose, Perkins, Root, Sherman, Smoot, Stephenson, Sterling, Sutherland, Warren, Weeks and Works, republicans; Lea, Thomas and Reed, democrats. Total—12.
Absent and not paired—Burleigh and Gronna, republicans. Total—2.
Vacancy—Alabama, one.

The final struggle began at 4 o'clock when under a previous agreement arbitrary votes began on pending amendments. During the closing hours of debate Sen. La Follette had been the center of interest, proposing final amendments on the cotton and agriculture schedules and discussing some features of the bill which he deemed favorable. It was nearly 5:30 o'clock when the vice president put the bill upon its passage. Sen. Ashurst, first on the roll, shouted loudly, "yea," and the roll call proceeded deliberately until the clerk called "La Follette." The Wisconsin senator seated in the front row hesitated a second. His head was bowed and resting on his hand. He leaned forward a trifle and vigorously answered "Aye."

Applause Breaks Out.
Instantly the applause broke from the galleries and senators on the democratic side joined in enthusiastic handclapping, nearly every democrat participating in the brief but vigorous demonstration. When the name of Sen. Poindexter, the only progressive senator, was reached and he contributed his vote for the bill, the applause was renewed.

Tuesday night Sen. La Follette had a few words to say of his vote after many democratic senators had surrounded his desk and shook him by the hand.

After the vote Sen. La Follette said: "I realize what I did was a political sacrifice but that within me compelled me to vote for the bill."
"The tariff act of 1909 was but little short of a crime; the bill passed today is not a democratic measure but a protective measure. Every change made by the finance committee was made by way of adjustment to a protective basis except such as free wool and free sugar which were determined upon outside. They treated the agriculture schedule. I regret to say, on a free trade basis and I would have retained more duty on cutlery and some other articles on which there is no data, in order to be sure not to ruin American production. Give the democrats time and they will put everything on a free trade basis, but they have not done it in this bill."

Sen. Poindexter said of his vote:
New Measure Better.
"I voted for the senate tariff bill because it is, in my opinion, a better bill than the Payne-Aldrich law, now in

HEIRESS WHOM SOCIETY WOMAN IS ACCUSED OF TRYING TO BLACKMAIL

MISS LILLIAN HUNTINGTON.

District Attorney Auburn predicts that more than one sensation will be uncovered when Mrs. Margaret Carter, a society woman of Elyria, Ohio, is brought to trial on a charge of attempted blackmailing. Mrs. Carter is the wife of a retired tobacco manufacturer and was locked up in default of $10,000 bail after waiving examination. She was arrested as the result of a search for the author of threatening letters that were received by the clubman and threatened that the fortune of her father, John Huntington, who was one of the original Standard Oil magnates. Soon after rumors were floated telling of Miss Huntington's engagement to a prominent Cleveland clubman, the young girl began receiving letters in which the author said that she was engaged to the clubman and threatened that unless Miss Huntington paid $3,000 for silence a horrible scandal would be started.

Furthermore, it contains an income tax which we have been trying to get for 20 years.
"Some of its rates are too high, and some are too low—but its general average on manufactures is high enough. Its classification is far from scientific but not more so than the existing law."
When the vote had been announced Sen. Gallinger of New Hampshire, the leader of the minority, was recognized and congratulated Sen. Simmons for his "courteous, kindly and considerate manner" in the conduct of the debate. He said he knew of no tariff fight characterized by such good feeling throughout and attributed it to the personality of Sen. Simmons.
"The bill itself is bad," he said, "but its management in every way is creditable to the majority and eminently fair to the minority."

Income tax amendments by Senators Bristow and La Follette similar to those they introduced several days ago were defeated by votes of 61 to 18 and 62 to 16, respectively.
An amendment by Sen. Gallinger that proposed to send the whole tariff question over until December, 1914, and submit the bill to a popular referendum next fall, was defeated 63 to 16. And by amendment by Sen. Catron for 20 per cent duty on raw wool was defeated 42 to 35 and a general substitute wool bill offered by Sen. Smoot, was defeated without a roll call.
One important change made on the recommendation of the finance committee, gives the secretary of the treasury powers to censor all moving picture films imported. An amendment by Sen. McCumber proposing higher duties on barley, oats, wheat and flaxseed was rejected 43 to 25 and one by Sen. La Follette for a five cent duty on wheat was defeated without a single call.

Sen. James, acting for the finance committee, secured the adoption of an amendment modifying the provision of the bill that authorizes the secretary of the treasury and collector of internal revenue to employ income tax officials without regard to the civil service laws. The new provision leaves it optional with the officials as to whether or not they will take employees from the list of civil service eligibles.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—The tariff bill as it passed the senate Tuesday retained the principal house provision including free sugar and free raw wool, but revised other rates still further downward. The average ad valorem rate on the bill is now approximately 26 per cent, a decrease of 23 per cent from existing rates and nearly four per cent lower than the rates of the house bill.

The senate's additions to the house free list with 1912 as a basis will cost the government more than $44,000,000 but by adding a tax of one-tenth of one cent a pound on cotton sold for future delivery; a tax of one-tenth of one cent a pound on bananas; restoring the requirement a full internal revenue tax of $1.10 a gallon on brandies used to fortify wines and by increasing the sur-tax rates on large incomes, senate leaders believe they have provided an actual increase. That is a point disputed by the Majority Leader Underwood of the house.

Made Other Changes.
The senate made these other important changes:
Lowered the normal exemption from the one per cent income tax from $4,000 to $3,000 for single persons; with exemptions for wives and dependents; exempted the incomes of mutual life insurance companies which revert to the benefit of stockholders; increased the graduated sur-tax on large incomes to a maximum of six per cent on those more than $500,000; exempted incomes of municipalities derived from operation of public utilities, and changed the date from which year from Jan. 1 to Mar. 1, 1913.
Free listed cattle and other live stock, wheat, hair of the angora goat

THAW WATCHES SETTING SUN IN THE OPEN HILLS

Slayer of Stanford White is Given His First Outing Since He Was Confined to the Matteawan Asylum.

COATCOOK, N. Y., Sept. 10.—Harry K. Thaw stood on a hill overlooking Coatcook Tuesday evening and watched the setting sun. High grass brushed his knees, night birds fluttered in a patch of woods nearby. It was the first outing of its kind the slayer of Stanford White has had in nearly seven years.

In the asylum at Matteawan from which he escaped Thaw had to take his exercise in a court yard, but when he asked for an airing Tuesday his guards led him up the hill to the west of the village and on a chilly half an hour they stumbled through the tangled grass and weeds.

Thaw's cheeks were glowing and he was laughing when at dusk he ascended the stairs to the immigration pen over the railway station. Reports reached Coatcook Tuesday night from Montreal that Thaw's lawyers might desire his presence there on Thursday, four days before he is to be brought before the king's bench on the writ of habeas corpus. Thaw said he knew nothing of their plans and was waiting for the next move of the immigration officers.

Hears From Mother.
He added that he had received a telephone message from his mother, Mrs. Mary Copely Thaw, and his sister, Mrs. George Leader Carnegie, now in Montreal. They had told him, he said, that they purposed giving out a statement there Tuesday night.

A musical comedy company enroute to Sherbrooke stopped at Coatcook for 20 minutes Tuesday afternoon and broke the monotony of the scene outside the fugitive's window. Ten girls, most of them blondes, shrieked messages of good will to him, turkey-trotted up and down the station platform for his edification, and cheered shrilly when the train pulled out. Thaw stood at the window the while, watching their hands, and nodding approval.

James McKee, the justice of the peace who signed the warrant for the arrest of William Travers Jerome, acquitted Monday night on a charge of gambling, said Tuesday that he was not entirely satisfied that Magistrate Mulvena of Sherbrooke had acted legally in presiding at the hearing and that he (McKee) would consult counsel to determine whether the case could be re-opened. "I may call the case on Thursday, the time to which I adjourned it," said the justice.

Would Appeal Case.
"There is no case to call, it's all over. Mr. Jerome has been discharged," said A. C. Hanson, the joint crown prosecutor. "I understand some of the hot headed townspeople are raising a fund to appeal from the acquittal. This is of course ridiculous. They have a right, however, to lay any grievance they have before the attorney general."

MAY GO TO LONDON.
LONDON, Sept. 10.—The Standard suggests the possibility of Thaw's appeal against deportation being eventually referred to the privy council, which is the final court of appeals on points of law arising in the colonies. It says that should the case thus be transferred to London, it might involve a delay of two or three years.

and some other agricultural products; restored oatmeal and rolled oats to the dutiable list, and provided an elaborate inspection of meat imports.

Reduced house rates on woolen manufactures to become effective Jan. 1, 1914.
Provided in the sugar schedule for immediate abolishment of the Dutch standard test; postponed operation of proposed reduced rates until Mar. 1, 1914, leaving the present unchanged for free sugar in May, 1915.

Slightly increased rates on finer cotton goods, reclassifying the whole cotton schedule and changing the silk schedule from an ad valorem to a specific basis.

Provided for an administrative force to handle income tax collections without regard to requirements of the civil service.
Struck out a countervailing duty on wood pulp.
Greatly reduced rates of the metal schedule.
Struck out many reform provisions in the administrative section; rejected the anti-dumping clause; the five per cent tariff reduction on imports in American vessels, and the requirement for inspection of books of foreign manufacturers in under evaluation cases; but added a provision giving the president authority to retaliate against nations which discriminate against American goods, by proclaiming increased rates on certain goods, adopted a provision excluding goods manufactured chiefly by child labor, and provided for the creation of a commission to revise the customs laws.

Important additions to the free list included:
Antimony ore, limestone rock asphalt, asphaltum and bitumen, fabrics of jute yarns, wool blankets valued at less than 40 cents a pound, text books, sugar machinery, cast iron pipe, surgical catgut, cement, creosote oil, denatured alcohol, flax and hemp, furs and furskins, gunpowder, pig iron, spiegeleisen, ferro manganese, wrought iron, iron slabs and blooms, photographic moving picture films, steel ingots, blooms and slabs, cattle and other live stock, wheat, sawed cedar, angora goat and alpaca wool and paper twine for binding wool.
